

University Student Ambassador National Programme
on Child Protection - 2024
National Child Protection Authority (NCPA)

The “University Student Ambassador National Programme” (USANP) on Child Protection is a unique programme organized by National Child Protection Authority (NCPA) with the purpose of developing knowledge, skills & attitudes of university students on child protection. Internal students those who are in 2nd & 3rd year at any state university approved by University Grants Commission (UGC) are eligible to register for this volunteer programme. It is expected to implement this programme as a sustainable programme in Sri Lanka which aims to develop knowledge on child protection among university students & create a graduate who is having thorough knowledge in child protection during the process of socialization. National Child Protection Authority will implement this programme in collaboration with University Grants Commission (UGC) & State Universities.

The knowledge, skills & attitudes on Child Protection that University Student Ambassadors gather at young age will contribute to create a leader in child protection who prioritize child protection, stand against child abuse, take necessary actions in every possible occasion that needs to protect children, develop concepts and creative initiatives which affirm child protection as adults or professionals work in diverse sectors. It will help them to understand the current context of Child Protection in Sri Lanka. It is expected that this programme will create a platform to share global level experience with foreign university students in future.

Main Objectives

1. To create a youth community who are responsible & accountable on child protection.
2. To create awareness about National Policy on child protection among university students.
3. To develop knowledge, skills & attitudes of university students on child protection to create a child friendly and protective environment for children.
4. To get suggestions & participation of university students in order to minimize & prevent child abuses.

5. To get the participation of university students in the process of decision making in child protection.
6. To get contribution to draft policies in child protection & to advise government by obtaining comments & suggestions from the university students.
7. To provide opportunities to coordinate with the officers of National Child Protection Authority.

Registration Procedure

Only the 2nd & 3rd year internal students of any state university approved by University Grants Commission of Sri Lanka can download the registration form published on the official websites of National Child Protection Authority, University Grants Commission & the websites of state universities and send the duly filled form by registered post to join this volunteer programme.
